WHEN GO INTO TRAINING?

Date Uncertain; May Not Begin Before Middle of October.

Owing to doubts as to the several training camps being ready for the recruits, training of the conscripts may not begin until the first or middle of October instead of the first of September as has been talked.

When it is remembered that the recruits have to be examined physically, each and every one, it will be seen that there is a great amount of work ahead which is very likely not to be completed in time for drilling to begin September 1 as has been talked. The feeling maintains that those who registered should be used as far as needed to harvest the coming wheat crop before the selective draft actually begins, it will be seen that delay of that part of the work must necessarily follow. After the wheat is harvested will come the physical examinations and then they will be off to the several training camps. But the preparation of barracks for 650,000 men is a task of such huge proportions and such vast quantities of lumber and other materials will be required that the completion of the barracks is very likely to be some weeks beyond the date first considered, September 1. The work will be pushed with all possible speed, but in spite of every reasonable effort there will be unavoidable delays.

When it comes to moving the men from many isolated points to the selected training centers, there is a great big job on hand and there is a limit as to the speed with which that can be accomplished. So, if the real training of the first 500,000 troops is actually under full swing by October 1 instead of September 1, as first talked, the work will likely have been speeded up to the limit.

ONLY PART OF THE NAMES

Names Beginning With A and B of those Who Registered June 5.

As stated in our issue of last week we are unable to give all the names at one time of those who registered for military service June 5. To give all the names at one time would take up too much space and, besides, we have not sufficient capital letters to print the names all at one time.

We believe, however, that the list will be read with much interest by hundreds of people over the county and for that reason we shall print about 100 names a week until the entire 701 names have been published. This week we are giving the names that begin with A and B. Next week we will take other letters of the alphabet in regular succession and so continue week by week until all have been published.

GASOLINE ENGINE FOR SALE.

One two-horse power gasoline engine in good working order. It's second hand and will sell very cheap. Inquire at the Chronicle office.

RED CROSS WORK.

Crossville Ladies and Others Over County Will Lend Helping Hand.

The meeting at the court house last Wednesday, called to organize a Red Cross Chapter, brought out a large number of ladies and several men. Mayor A. L. Garrison presided as master of ceremonies.

Judge C. E. Snodgrass delivered an eloquent and inspiring talk, vividly setting out the great needs that confront the nation in the field of labor distinctively devoted to Red Cross work. He showed what a great Christian work it is and urged in the strongest terms that our people join heartily in this noble work of ministering mercy. He was heartily cheered at the close of his address as an evidence that his stirring words had struck home to the hearts of his hearers.

Mrs. F. H. Washburn read a splendid paper telling of the work, after which she named a few committees to push the work along. Mrs. J. B. Johnson was named as chairman of the Committee on Finance, Mrs. J. W. Dorton, Work, and Mesdames Andy Elmore and F. J. Upham, Purchasing.

Some literature relative to the manner in which such chapters are organized was expected before the meeting, but it failed to arrive.

We have been favored with a very clear and concise statement of what is expected of members, the manner of organizing a chapter, which follows:

In connection with enrolling Red Cross members and organizing a Cumberland County Red Cross Chapter there are a number of points for pertinent questions.

Many seem to fear the duties that membership may impose. There is no need for this to prevent any one from enrolling as a member of this great organization.

Signing the application blanks and paying one of the dues, from one dollar to one hundred dollars, simply permits your name to go on record as a member of the Red Cross, with no service obligations whatever.

The Bulletin of April, 1917, has this paragraph on Membership: "Membership imposes no obligation of personal service, either in time of war or peace. It is not to be confused with enrollment for special service, such as nursing, hospital units, etc., which have special requirements and duties."

"Comparatively few persons can serve the Red Cross in the field, but everyone can serve at home, by becoming a member, by getting friends to join, and by spreading a knowledge of the work and by participating in the work of the local chapter."

The application blanks also bear in red ink:

"No field service required."

So no one need entertain any nightmare vision of active service unless they volunteer for such work. Enrollment does not even oblige one to do any work with the local chapter. That is all a matter of personal ability and inclination. This is a list of the various kinds of membership:

Annual member	$1.00
Subscribing member, annually	2.00
Contributing member, annually	5.00
Sustaining member, annually	10.00
Life member, one payment	25.00
Patron member, one pay't	100.00

Another question is relative to the disposition of the dues collected. The April Bulletin explains this:

"Members of the Red Cross, within the territory of a chapter, are automatically members of the chapter, and a portion of the membership dues is retained by the chapter for its own use, within proper restrictions."

This means that the greater part of the membership dues are used for the purchasing of supplies, etc., for the local work.

The organization of a chapter is a matter of considerable time as the society is overwhelmed at Washington with its unusual press of work. The process of organizing is clearly stated in the Bulletin:

"When a community desires to organize a chapter a petition requesting the necessary authority signed by five or more responsible persons residing in the district should be forwarded to the Central Committee of the American Red Cross, Washington, D. C., together with the personal applications for membership of those petitioners who are not already members. Upon approval, authority will be granted to hold a meeting for the purpose of organization, and full instructions pertaining to organization, duties and responsibilities of chapters will be forwarded."

When these necessary credentials arrive from Washington a business meeting of the Red Cross members will be called to form a permanent organization.

An Act of Congress provides for the protection of the Red Cross name and insignia and renders any unauthorized agents liable to severe penalties.

W. M. HYDER DEAD.

Passed Away at Home of W. M. Selby Vandever, Tuesday of Last Week.

W. M. Hyder, aged 77, died at the home of W. M. Selby, Tuesday of last week at 11 o'clock, p. m., after an illness that had been critical for about a week.

The remains were buried at the Selby graveyard, Sequatchie valley, Wednesday, attended by his six children, other relatives and many sympathetic friends.

The deceased had been in a critical and failing condition for a week and his passing away was not unexpected. His six children, four sons and two daughters were at the bedside when he passed away. All that thoughtful kindness and love could do to lighten his sufferings was done by his children and friends. When the end came he passed away peacefully.

The deceased was born and raised in Sequatchie valley, but had lived most of his life on the farm where he died. His wife passed away about 16 years ago and much of the time since he spent with his children, all of whom live in this and adjoining counties, except one daughter who lives in Georgia. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Cobble.

The deceased was a man of marked industry and honesty. He was respected by all who knew him and in his passing away our county loses a citizen who has always stood for those things that make for good citizenship and the general upbuilding of the country. He was a kind neighbor and for many years the whole neighborhood called upon him when a death occurred to furnish the coffin. While he made dozens of them he was never known to charge a cent for his services, in spite of the fact that in some instances he would take lumber from the lot of his residence to make the coffin. In brief he was one of those sturdy, old-fashioned characters who was ever ready to assist the distressed and counted himself well paid in the knowledge that he had helped a friend in the hour of sadness and deep trial.

CARD OF THANKS.

To those kind friends of Crossville, Vandever and Sequatchie valley, who so generously ministered to our dear father in his last sickness, we extend our most heartfelt thanks. While we are unable to find words to express our feelings we take this means of formally expressing our appreciation of every kindness shown our dear father in his declining years, as well as in his last sickness.

W. H. Hyder, brothers and sisters.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Considerably warmer the first half of the week, and continued warm the second half. Fair until near the end of the week, when thunder showers are probable.

STOP THAT SUMMER COUGH.

We have coughs and grippy feelings in warm weather because colds are germ diseases. That's why we should have Dr. King's New Discovery handy. It's antiseptic ingredients fight the growth of germs and loosen their hold. Its laxative qualities expel these germs and cleanse the system. You can feel its pleasant balsams soothe the inflammation, heal tissues strained by coughing and promote rest and sleep. Millions of bottles sold. 50c., $1.00 at your druggist. Used for nearly 50 years. 3.

MILITARY COMPANY ASSURED

Have 125 Men and Will Have 150 Soon Join Now or Be Left Out.

The movement toward organizing a company in this county is progressing splendidly. There are 125 men now assured and the number will reach 150 within the next three days or sooner.

An enlisting officer is expected here almost any day to examine the men and when the company is made up further enlistments will be impossible. The time for enlistment may be extended until Monday but it is expected to close sooner. Those who enlist now will have the chance to be in a company with those they know and be officered, in part, at least, by men they know, which certainly is an item of importance.

Thus far no one has enlisted from Pleasant Hill or Grassy Cove. Crab Orchard has done splendidly. Counting those who have previously joined the army from Crab Orchard within the past two months, twenty men have been furnished by that section. Several have joined from Mayland and several more are expected to join as well as some fifteen or more men from Isolone.

Volner Hamby, Davidson Southard and Sherman N. Smith are listed for placed as officers. Mr. Hamby, having seen service in the regular army in the Philippines following the Spanish-American war, is probably the best qualified as an officer of any of the three. He is cool, a man of good judgment and understands what is required; hence his chances for a place as an officer will be excellent. The other men are well equipped from the point of intelligence but have not had much, if any, training.

Regular drills will be in order from now on and as soon as guns and uniforms arrive they will drill daily on the ball ground. The headquarters of the company is in the old armory, on the third floor of the Cooper building.

A private receives $31 a month, board and clothes, and to $38 a month if he is a good marksman.

New Liberty

Miss Pearl Brown and brother Mike, of Livingston, were guests of their sister, Mrs. John Hassler, part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kerley returned home Monday, after spending two weeks with Mrs. Kerley's mother here.

Misses Rena Watson and Myrtle McDaniels, of Crossville, spent Sunday with homefolks.

Quite a number from Crab Orchard attended Sunday school here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Reed visited Mrs. Reed's mother, Mrs. Molly McDaniels, recently.

Clifford Burnett has been sick, but is better at present.

Elmer Thompson has been very sick with measles.

T. N. Hassler spent Saturday and Sunday with homefolks.

Miss Jessie Jones attended Sunday school here Sunday.

Pete Deatherage, of Dorton, was the guest of his brother, Wes Deatherage, Sunday.

A large crowd attended the picnic given by the Sunday school in honor of the soldier boys who are guarding Daddy's Creek bridge, and a delightful time was had by all.

UGRE POSTPONEMENT.

There is a movement abroad in the state to postpone the constitutional convention until later or account of the country being involved in the war.

While many persons feel there should be no delay others are of a different mind and the opposition is very likely to assume such proportions as to defeat it at the polls in July.

RED CROSS WEEK.

At sunrise Monday morning was launched a great campaign to raise $100,000,000 in the United States for Red Cross work. The effort is being put forth to raise that amount in seven days. There is every reason to expect it will be raised.
